HAIR PROBLEMS - The root cause

Having long and luscious hair is almost everyone's dream. Hair loss is today one of the most acute problems hampering the lifestyle of millions over the world. Baldness, rapid hair fall, hair thinning etc are gender neutral as they are afflicting both men and women. Most people experiencing hair issues do not even enjoy social life as they feel embarrassed to step out. This affects their emotional balance and wellbeing. Genetics, lifestyle disorders, scalp/hair related ailments, dandruff, high stress etc are some of the most common factors driving hair problems. The market is full of short term solutions which involve spending Lakhs of Rupees on treatments like hair transplantation, laser therapy, Minoxidil, stem cell therapy etc. More often than not, these costly solutions do not deliver belying their exorbitant price tags. Scientists and doctors have been striving relentlessly to address baldness and other hair related issues for several years with limited results. However the good news is that a recent study authenticated the definitive role of certain herbs in comprehensively and permanently addressing hair and scalp issues.
